EXPLAINED BROWN DERBY

As a Matter of Fact, George Was Very Far From Trying to "Rush the Season."

One morning, while folks still complained of the protracted hot weather, and the men had not discarded their straw hats in favor of the soft hats now in vogue, the woman's course took her past the establishment of one of the leading silversmiths of the city.

Busy about the entrance of the building was a well-groomed colored man, whose outfit was rendered complete by a stylish light brown derby hat.

While the woman made the mental reservation that the wearer was somewhat early with his sun headgear, a handsome motorcar drew up at the curb, and there alighted a fine-looking gentleman, whose appearance and bearing bespoke authority and success.

"Good morning, George," was his cheery greeting to the smiling colored man. See you are early with your fall hat, aren't you?

"Well, no, boss," answered George. "It ain't that I see early with mah new fall hat. No, sah! But I see late with mah last winter one."—Chicago Journal.

He Wasn't Hungry.
A noted evangelist was preaching in the church of which six-year-old Bruce's parents were members. It was Sunday and the evangelist was to accompany the family home for dinner. He was a man of large physique with an appetite reported to be in accord with his size. Bruce, lingering nearby, as the minister donned overcoat and hat, heard him remark to the head of the family that he was not hungry. Later, at the dinner, when the preacher was doing ample justice to all tempting viands, Bruce astonished those assembled at the board by saying: "Mister—, I thought you wasn't hungry?" His remark brought a hearty laugh from the preacher.

Englishmen Housewives.
In Lancashire, England, where both husbands and wives work in the mills, the husband does more of the housework than perhaps any other husband in the world. Many of the men can make a bed and prepare a meal better than the wives can.

Why guess about it— When you can know about it?

Suppose a guide said—

"This way there's a safe and pleasant road to your destination, with no risks or troubles on the way," and—

"That way there's a road that a good many have stalled on and turned back from, but you may get through."

Which would you take?

Postum is a thoroughly agreeable and satisfying meal-time drink, and you're sure that it's perfectly safe for health. Coffee contains drug qualities which disturb and harm the health of many.

Postum or coffee? Which road?

Why guess when you can know?

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tin) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger size, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes. Sold by all grocers.

BLEND OF COLORS

Delightful Shadings Features of Knitted Costumes.

Suits of Plain Skirts and Slip-On Top Portion—Dress and Cape Combinations.

Delightful color blends in wool and silk and wool mixtures are a feature of the new knitted costumes. Suits composed of plain skirts and slip-on top portion, dress and cape combinations, and new notes in sweater numbers are among the points of especial interest.

Lavender and brown are blended in a most effective heather mixture in a dress and cape costume of Heigh Ho knitted cloth. The dress is straight line with a few inset side gathers, held in place by a tie belt which extends from either side of the front panel. The sleeves are full length with a slightly flared line, while the neck slit is bound in self material, enabling the wearer to adjust the collar to either a high neckline or turned back effect. The distinguishing feature, however, is seen in the cape of the same material, collared in a straight band of beaver. The cape dips slightly at the back and ties at the neckline in front.

The smart French woman, it is said, when she removes this cape from about the neck, ties it at the waistline in front. The gathers at the back and the graceful dip which makes the garment longer than the skirt length impart most effective lines to the costume.

A two-piece suit of a shade between brown and henna is handed at the skirt edge and about the coat in narrow silk strips of bright orange, the tie at the neck and belt being of the same inspiration.

All silk sweaters carry out this theme of bright color bands, as noted in a stunning gray tuxedo model with

OUTFITS FOR THE OUTDOOR GIRL

Miss 1921 Is Permitted to Don Breaches and Coat Not Unlike Clothes Brother Wears.

This is the age in which the girl who goes for a canter down the bridge-path is dressed in smart breaches not unlike her brother's, and with them she wears a coat of severe cut and excellent workmanship, a derby or pressed heavier sailor tops her head, a tailored blouse, riding boots and heavy gloves complete her costume.

She is truly a contrast to her grandmother, who mounted a sidesaddle in a trailing full skirt with lace frills at her wrists and throat, and on whose head rode a large plumed hat. However, this is not the only way in which Miss 1921 is a contrast to her grandmother.

For the golf course and the country hike, the hunting trip and the skating party the new knickerbocker suit has made its welcome appearance. These suits are made of rough tweeds and come with the knickerbockers and the short skirts, which button up the front and have large, roomy pockets at the sides.

In these suits are not warm enough for the winter winds, stunning topcoats of heavy velours and tweeds cut on simple masculine lines, or woolen sweaters in many different designs and colors, are distinctly feminine.

One sweater that lends itself admirably for winter wear has a long scarf collar that can be worn open with a tuxedo-front effect, but catching the fringed ends through the belt, or it may be made to serve the double

VELVET IS A STRONG FAVORITE

Winsome Fabric Comes Into Vogue With the Autumn; Conforms to Any Style.

Velvet, always a prime favorite with the social arbiter, comes into vogue with the autumn. Lustrous, rich and colorful, it is one of the most versatile fabrics. It can be made to conform to almost any style, creating charm by its own means, loops, shirring, a catch-stitch in just the right place, plaits, and so forth.

One of the merits that make it so well beloved is its ability to be quite as beautiful unadorned as it is beaded or embroidered or veiled with chiffon. As for color schemes, there is no medium known to sartorial circles that gives such certain, satisfying results. Any shade seems to become intensified in loveliness that is fortunate enough to be called upon to color velvet.

THE FROCK OF BLACK VELVET

Simplicity is well exemplified in this street frock of black velvet, faced with gray squirrel and trimmed with lobster-red braid. The open rolling collar is of dark-gray satin.

narrow hand trims of burnt orange. Plain-color sweaters in slip-on style are made with V or rounded neckline embellished by bright color touches. Practically all of these models are shown with matching scarves in effective color blends, which add much in completing the costume. A hand-knitted brown wool number of V-necked slip-on lines has its scarf attached, a striped one blue, tan, henna and brown.

NEW BELTS FASTEN AT SIDE

Decorations Sold in Paris Shops Is Narrow; One Made by a Dressmaker Is Wide.

Both red and orange are introduced in the separate tunics that Paris is showing, but Jenny uses splashing brocades, such as were worn by the men of old Persia. When the tunic is not too long, it is fastened to the skirt at the hip, and pulled in to the smallest dimensions possible by a girdle. The public may think that these girdles are after the manner of those sold in our shops, also in the famous Galeries Lafayette over in Paris which is packed with Americans spending their surplus money. But if the public thinks after that fashion, it is wrong. The belts sold in the shops are narrow, and the ones used by the dressmakers are wide. They fasten at the side, by the way, and have pendants of metal or beads in some cases. The sash which ties at the side is utterly out of fashion.

Girdles.
Girdles of all sorts may be had to add to afternoon and evening gowns. Some of them are made of segments of metal and others of some composition—like celluloid held together with metal rings. Some are of jade and silver. Some are of strands of beads. Some are of jet. There are all kinds, and for the most part they are very good looking and well worth having as a finishing detail of a new frock.

The Use of Fringe.

Even separate skirts are not exempt from fringe, pounce and sport silk ones having pointed or straight bands of it in self-colored.

SEASONABLE GOOD THINGS.

If one has ever eaten Missouri baked chicken they will want to repeat the experience. In the roasting pan, with a good-sized piece of fresh pork—one of the cheaper cuts will do. Around the meat place peeled sweet potatoes and baste often; or, better, cook in a self-basting roaster.

Chicken Cooked in Milk.—Cut up the chicken as for fricassee (parboil, if at all doubtful of its tenderness); drain, roll in seasoned flour and brown in butter or a mixture of butter and any sweet fat. Now lay the browned pieces of chicken in a baking pan and pour over sweet milk to cover. Bake until the milk and flour have formed a gravy.

Oysters in Cucumber Cups.—Cut large cucumbers into halves, crosswise; scoop out the centers and slice small pieces from the rounded ends, so that the cups will stand upright. Fill with raw oysters and bake in a hot oven until the cucumbers are tender. Serve with a spoonful of tartar sauce in each cup. Mixed fish or lobster may be used in place of the oysters.

Terrapin Chicken.—Chop two hard-cooked eggs and two cooked chicken livers; mix with two cups of cold cooked chicken, cut in small pieces. Season with salt, pepper and a slight grain of nutmeg.

Melt three tablespoons of butter in a frying pan; add two tablespoons of flour and one cupful of a mixture of cream and chicken stock. Cook as for white sauce; add the chopped mixture, cover and simmer over gentle heat for ten minutes. Before serving, add the yolk of an egg, beaten with two tablespoons of cream, one teaspoonful of lemon juice; stir into the hot mixture and pour into timbale cups, custards, or into a pretty dish.

Cinnamon Drop Apples.—Select good baking apples, like the greening or pippin; wash and core and fill the centers with red cinnamon candies and part sugar. Bake until the apples crack open. Baste the apples with the sirup from the pan.

Be not too frank, if you would reach a woman's heart; be not too kind. Nor too unkind, but keep your speech. And all your manners unfeigned. Assert but briefly self-control; Then watch her come to you, intent To give direction to your soul And make indifference defeat.

SALAD COMBINATIONS.

Lettuce is always in the market and may be used as the main part of the salad or as a garnish. Lettuce may be served in hundreds of ways with a variety of salad dressings, making a really different salad every day. A slice of tomato or a core of pineapple or a slice of watermelon may be used as a foundation on which to place a salad, but lettuce is the standard for all occasions.

Let the lettuce be halved, cored and the cavity filled with a ball of cream cheese on lettuce with salad dressing is a good combination.

The following are all good: Cooked shoestring carrots and green peas with mayonnaise on lettuce.

A small ball of cream or cottage cheese with a spoonful of bar le duc or any pretty jelly in the center of the ball as a garnish. Serve with French dressing.

Trusses stuffed with cream cheese on lettuce with French dressing. Dates may be served the same way.

Cream cheese made into balls and rolled in nuts. Serve on lettuce with French dressing.

Pineapple slices with a ball of cream cheese in the center, garnished with a heaping spoonful of cream pimento, on lettuce with French dressing.

Stuffed olives and sliced celery hearts on lettuce with mayonnaise dressing.

Sections of orange, grapefruit and a bright apple unpeeled, arranged in the form of a hemisphere on lettuce with salad dressing of any kind.

Diced apple, dates, orange and celery on lettuce with a mayonnaise, adding whipped cream.

Hearts of celery stalks, stuffed with cream cheese, garnished with walnuts and lettuce with French dressing.

Chopped cooked beet, celery mixed with mayonnaise. Serve in a cup-shaped leaf of head lettuce.

Green peppers filled with seasoned cream cheese and then salted, served on lettuce.

Chopped celery with a bit of onion served on slices of tomato makes a very acceptable combination.

A thick slice of tomato with a spoonful of chopped celery and onion mixed and heaped on top, then topped with a spoonful of mayonnaise, served on lettuce.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

EAGLE'S THANKSGIVING.

"Of course," said Daddy Bird Eagle, "Thanksgiving Day is a day when the turkey is shown a great honor. But I would like to have something to say for Thanksgiving Day, too."

"The turkey is chosen as the best and chief food for that day, as he is for Christmas Day, too."

"It is very right and proper that he should be chosen. But I would like to have something to say, as I have just remarked, for Thanksgiving Day."

"Thanksgiving Day is a day when people are thankful. They are thankful for their homes, thankful for their country, thankful they belong to their country, thankful they have so many blessings."

"And the Eagle would like to say he is thankful, too."

"Yes, I would like to say how thankful I am that I am chosen as the national emblem of the United States. I would like to say that I will ever be thankful that this honor has been shown to my family."

"We are glad when the Fourth of July comes, glad that that day means so much to the country means something to us, too. For we mightn't have been chosen as the National Bird if the nation hadn't come into existence."

"And so, now that Thanksgiving Day is about to come, I'd like to add a word and say how thankful I am. Yes, I'd like to say how very thankful the whole family is to have had this honor."

"We are called the Bald Eagles because our heads are white. The young eagles don't have white heads. It is not until we become several years old that we have white heads and white tails."

"The young eagles have coloring much like the coloring of the Golden Eagles, who are our cousins, though our young eagles are blacker in color, and their legs are bare down by their feet."

"We live on ducks and geese, and fish, too. Sometimes we take the fish away from the Osprey family, and sometimes we catch the fish ourselves."

"We can be seen flying with our marketing in our beaks!"

"These are the ways of the Bald Eagles. But we have more to tell about ourselves."

"Many may know all we have to tell, but for those who don't know, we want to say a few things."

"We have good eyesight, and we fly high in the air."

"We make our nests of big sticks, and we usually have them in the tops of very, very, very high trees, for we love great heights."

"The mother eagles usually lay two beautiful white eggs which later become beautiful eagle children."

"But oh, eagles, all of you, think of the honor that has been shown you. You cannot think of it only on the Fourth of July, though that is a fine day to think of it, too. Think of it all the time, of course."

"But give a special thought to the honor that has been shown you on Thanksgiving Day. I don't mean the honor has been given to you on Thanksgiving Day."

"But I mean it is a good idea for you to think of the honor on Thanksgiving Day."

"For on that day all creatures think of their blessings, and surely no creature has a greater blessing to think of than has Daddy Bald Eagle and his family."

"Thanksgiving Day! The day upon which to give thanks. Let all the eagles give thanks too, upon this day, because they are the birds of freedom, and are the birds of a country that is free."

"No greater honor has ever been shown any bird. Be thankful, eagles! That is what I have to say."

"Yes, give thanks upon Thanksgiving Day, as everyone will do, and as old Daddy Bald Eagle will do too."

"And it will not be hard to give thanks, for we have so much about which to give thanks."

"Thanksgiving Day! Yes, the Eagles are thankful, too! And they will think of their blessings!"

If You Need a Medicine You Should Have the Best

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfill the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited, to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says: "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact, so many people claim, that it fulfills almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder ailments; corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcel Post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention this paper. Large and medium size bottles for sale at all drug stores. Advertisement.

Makes a Discovery.
A four-year-old boy visiting in Columbus last week had but little experience in the country, having lived all of his life in a large city. His knowledge of plants was limited to those he had seen in parks and in the very small yards in city homes. He was driving in the country with relatives, and the machine passed a field overrun with foxglove, a tall grass with a brushlike tip. The youngest regarded the grass with bulging eyes, and finally he cried, excitedly, "Oh, mother, mother, here is the place where the woolly worms grow!"—Indianapolis News.

MOTHER! OPEN CHILD'S BOWELS WITH CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP

Your little one will love the "fruit" taste of "California Fig Syrup" even if constipated, bilious, irritable, feverish, or full of cold. A teaspoonful never fails to cleanse the liver and bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the sour bile, and undigested food out of the bowels and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup," which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.—Advertisement.

Attention.
The family was out of town, and the house was left in charge of a young housemaid. On opening the door the first morning she found the chairwoman standing there, obviously angry.

"I've been ringing and ringing here for half an hour," she said. "Why ever didn't you come sooner?"

"Oh! Was that you?" replied the housemaid. "You kept on so regular that I thought it was only the telephone."—London Tit-Bits.

NURSE SAYS "GLANDO PINE

SHOULD BE IN EVERY HOME"

Nothing Better For Coughs.

Della Sweeney, of Chicago, says: "Glando Pine has been a great help to me. I use it in nursing and have had wonderful results. I have never known any complications from arising if it is used when the cold first develops. I can not recommend it too highly for I believe it should be in every home."

If mothers could only know what it means to have a good cough remedy in the home they would never be without it. The time to doctor a cold is when it first starts. A few hours of neglect may mean serious sickness. Glando Pine is cheap and pleasant to take. It quickly relieves cough, hoarseness, bronchitis, throat tickle, sore throat, and allays the inflamed or irritated condition of the throat and bronchial tubes.

Glando Pine is sold in a concentrated form. You make your syrup and save about $2 a pint. No trouble to prepare. Full directions go with each bottle. Get a 3 oz. bottle (the worth) of your druggist and you can make a pint of the best cough medicine you ever used.

Use it freely and save expense and sickness.
